BANGKOR MARKETS. BANGEOK, 24th August, 1865.

It affords us much pleasure to be able to inform you today that the Siamese Government has cided to remove the restriction on the rice trade and that the exportation of . Rice is open from This decision having been taken only late lass night, the official proclamation has not been distributed as yet; there is no doubt however regarding the fact, and by the first opportunity we shall take the liberty to send you a copy of the Government notification. We connot entertain for the present too sanguine hopes for a very speedy regival of our expert rice trade as some time must necessarely pass, before prices, which still rule much too high for shipments, have been brought down by the supplies from up country (these supplies, now when Bangkok trade is once more open, we hope will not fall to arrive in ample quantities.) Under all circumstances however, the judicious decision of Government to free the trade from all restriction.

gives a general feeling of security. According to advices from the interior, in some districts the yield of the crop promises to be a very good une whilst from others scarciny of rain is reported; should however the next month bring us sufficient rain, there is still a prospect for a fair viold in these latter districts also, and as a much larger quantity of paddy was planted this year than in any of the former ones, we have overy reason to expect, even with an average fair yield of the crop, to see at the end of the year goes more the gented activity in our export and freight business.
